EIC VALUE FUND

December 31, 2023

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE

All-cap value equity mutual fund that seeks to achieve long-term capital appreciation.

FUND STRATEGY

Using a value-based investment approach dating back to 1986, EIC believes the key to long-term investment success is avoiding serious losses. To that end, EIC looks to invest in high-quality companies selling below their value as ongoing businesses while seeking to identify and avoid value traps. EIC's disciplined investment process provides the flexibility to invest where value leads, regardless of capitalization or sector classification. This culture of independent thinking has led to lower volatility versus the broader market indexes.

Definition of Terms: Average Market Capitalization is the geometric mean of the market capitalization for all of the stocks in the portfolio. Price/Earnings Ratio is the ratio for valuing a company that measures its current share price relative to its per-share earnings for the past 12 months. Beta is a measure of the volatility, or systematic risk, of a portfolio in comparison to the benchmark. Standard Deviation is a measure of the dispersion of monthly performance from its mean. The wider the performance range, the higher the standard deviation.

This chart illustrates the percentage of small-, mid-, and large-capitalization stocks in a representative All-Cap Value portfolio since 2000. EIC uses the market capitalization of the Russell US Indexes reconstituted annually in June. EIC Value Fund capitalization exposure may vary from that of the representative portfolio. Market capitalization percentages may not equal 100% due to rounding conventions.

Performance for periods longer than one year is annualized. Performance data quoted represents past performance; past performance does not guarantee future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Short term performance, in particular, is not a good indication of the fund's future performance, and an investment should not be made based solely on returns. Current performance of the fund may be lower or higher than the performance quoted. Performance data current to the most recent month end may be obtained by calling 1-877-342-0111.

Furthermore, the Adviser may be reimbursed under certain limitations fees and expenses within a three-year period that were waived or reimbursed. This is reflected in the net expense ratio.
